Breva is the brand new Mediterranean signature restaurant hotspot just opened at Hotel Figueroa's. Chef Lane and cocktailier Dushan were inspired by their travels through the Western Mediterranean and have designed these culinary experiences to be the central heart and soul of Hotel Figueroa, making it a vibrant meeting place in DTLA.

Breva is a Basque inspired brasserie with Mediterranean influences. The menu captures the flavor and conviviality of the Western Mediterranean culture while incorporating California's finest fresh and seasonal ingredients

Some of the most delicious dishes were the Broccolini served with chili vinegar, harissa, and bone marrow bread crumbs, Roasted Cauliflower served with a walnut and caper salsa, and the Flatiron Steak served with crunchy seasoned french fries. All are designed to be served individually or shared family style, in keeping with the relaxed setting that exudes an air of visiting in a friend's home.

Fine china in varying patterns add charm to the tables which are set among comfortable banquettes and nooks, and the room sparkles both day and night with lighting that bounces off an expansive, custom designed mirror with faceted glass and wood features.

Another impeccable aspect of Breva's dining experience are their Gintonicos, particularly delicious was the Maré with thyme, basil, green cardamom, mandarin, and Three Cents Tonic.

To top it off, the waiters are incredibly accommodating and warm, adding to the homey environment of Breva and Hotel Figueroa. This must be at the top of your DTLA restaurant hit list!
